TWO HOUSEBREAKERS PLEAD GUILTY AND GET PRISON TERMS

John Bloomer Given Three Years and Henry Ireland Eighteen Months for Daylight Robbery.

John Bloomer and Henry Ireland, arrested by the police on Thursday for breaking into the home of Ed. Ward, 1020 North Bluff street, waived their preliminary examination in Judge Maxfield's court this morning and upon filing petitions that the information be filed against them at once, pleaded guilty to the charge of daylight larceny. Bloomer was sentenced to a term of three years in the state prison at Waupun, and Henry Ireland was given eight months in the same institution. Ireland gave his age as twenty-one years. In answer to Judge Maxfield's questions he stated that he was born at Baraboo and had worked on farms for a number of years. He insisted that this was the first time he had ever appeared in court or had been arrested for any sort of offense. He was ready to furnish a reference as to his good character, giving the name of a farmer near Cambridge, Wis., for whom he had worked for three years. Ireland said that he had met his companion at Eau Claire and upon learning that he was coming to the southern part of the state, decided to travel with him. They caught a passenger train. The fact that he was straight forward in answering the questions put to him, was responsible for the lighter sentence imposed. Bloomer had been "bumming" since he left his home at Minneapolis, when he was thirteen years old. When he had worked he was employed on farms. He could furnish no references and had nothing to say in his own behalf, adhering as far as possible to a policy of silence. Two men were arraigned this morning on the charge of drunkenness. One was given a fine of $15 or twenty days and Emil Nelson $25 or thirty days. The jail terms being the alternatives selected. Otto Stramppe's trial on a charge of drunkenness was adjourned to Tuesday, Dec. 16.

OBITUARY

Benjamin Voight. The body of Benjamin Voight, who died in this city Wednesday noon, was conveyed to Whitewater for burial at ten o'clock this morning. Burial was made at Uppers Corners, seven miles out of Whitewater. Mr. Voight was fifty years old and leaves a wife, two sisters and one brother. The sisters are Mrs. W. E. Mansfield and Mrs. C. Aurland, both of Minot, North Dakota, and a brother, Gustav, of Lergewood, North Dakota. Mr. Voight had been married for six years. He was born in Lebanon, Jefferson county. For some time past he has been employed on the Sprackling farm north of the city.

George A. Lanphier. Funeral services for George A. Lanphier were held this morning at nine o'clock from the Moses brothers' undertaking rooms, the Rev. J. C. Hazen officiating. The remains were taken overland to Clinton for burial.

Mrs. Caroline C. Kettle. Mrs. Caroline C. Kettle, a life-long resident of the town of Janesville, passed away at seven-thirty o'clock Thursday evening at the home of her son, Neil Kettle. A tumor of the brain was the cause of her last illness and death. Kettle was born in the town of Janesville August 1, 1835. Her maiden name being Caroline Caldwell. She was married to Cornelius Kettle, who passed away at Newton, Kansas, forty-one years ago. Except for two years spent in Kansas, Mrs. Kettle has always resided near Janesville. She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Schumacher, and two sons, George and Neil Kettle, all of the town of Janesville. Another son, David Kettle, died in infancy. She is also survived by a sister, Miss Helen Caldwell, residing near this city. Funeral services will be held at one o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of her son, Neil, and at two o'clock from the chapel at Oak Hill cemetery.

Forgot All Pauses. When Tommy began to read his mother tried to teach him to observe the punctuation. He learned to call the periods dots. One day a talkative woman called at the house and when she left Tommy said: "O, mamma, didn't that lady talk? She didn't even stop for the dots, did she?"

RUB ALL RHEUMATISM PAIN AWAY WITH OLD TIME PENETRATING ST. JACOBS OIL

Get a small trial bottle and rub it in your sore, aching joints.

Count fifty! Pain gone.

Rheumatism is "pain only." Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Stop drugging! Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil" directly upon the "tender spot," and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacob's Oil" is a harmless rheumatism cure which never disappoints and can not burn, or blister the skin.

Law was passed at the solicitation of the Wisconsin Humane society. With the coops now in general use the fowls poke their heads between the bars at the top and carelessly express their annoyance. Men, women and children catch the birds unawares, decapitating them or choking them to death.

Limber Up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacob's Oil" from any drug store and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic pain, soreness, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer! Relief and a cure awaits you. "St. Jacob's Oil" has cured millions of rheumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, and sprains.

Sport Snap Shots

Leach Cross in losing to Joe Rivers not only lost the chance at another championship nill and quite a little change, but he also lost an opportunity to appear in the movies in a film that was to be prepared for him, entitled the "Fighting Dentist." It would have offered him a week's work at posing for the movies and with a nice large wage attached. Also had he won the bout he would have received an even thousand beans from both paste manufacturers for the use of his name. A little split milk that Leach could hardly be blamed for weeping over.

The Federal league bosses are grinning broadly. Recent happenings have not displeased them in the least and as time goes on they manage to get more and more of a rise out of their big league brethren. For instance, just the other day President Bob Hedges of the Browns came hurrying home and out short a trip to the coast at the news that the Federal leaguers were tampering with some of his men. A few days later the Federal leaguers signed with the Browns and the news that several other of his men planned doing the same disturbed Hedges some little. Moreover, Lloyd Rickard, the secretary of the Federal league, recently announced that when the list of newly acquired players is published there will be consternation in abundance in National and American league circles. So the Federal league managers chuckle without restraint. At a recent meeting in St. Louis the managers and club owners declared that their prospects were never so bright. They are continually receiving letters from ball players all over the country asking for information and whether or not they would be well protected should they decide to make the change. The Federal leaguers are making every inducement to major league players to join their fold. However, they have said that they will take no contract-jumpers and will play fair. Players under contract to American and National league clubs have applied to the Federal league, but have been refused.

There is a power behind the throne with the Chicago White Sox—J. E. "Kid" Gleason—who is seldom mentioned and rarely breaks into print. But he is none the less quite an order in the management of the Sox's crowd of ball players. Gleason, who at one time was a star with the old Baltimore Orioles and who shared honors with Jennings, Willie Keeler, Brodie and others, is what might be called the assistant manager of the Sox. He was originally taken on to help put a little pep into some of the recruits. Comiskey thought that Callahan wasn't driving them hard enough and he wanted some one with a nice hearty voice and manner to get 'em going. Gleason started with the spring training crowd last spring and showed results in short order. After chasing the youngsters all around the lot for a number of weeks he put more pep in them than would have been thought possible. Gleason, moreover, is said to be responsible for Tex Russell and he managed to make Buck Weaver realize that he was a regular ball player. Buck developed confidence and showed remarkable improvement at the bat. Gleason divides the coaching with Callahan and being gifted at birth with a voice that can be heard far into the office, he does a great work in that department.

Whether or not it is generally known, the truth of the matter is that the real name of Tommy Burns, the ex-heavyweight champ, was not Tommy Burns at all, but Noah Brusso from Detroit. When Noah Brusso from Detroit set out to make things happen inistic circles he decided that his real name was a lemon in the matter of euphony and so selected the more pleasant sounding one of Tommy Burns. Now comes word from Pawtucket, R. I., that a young fighter is working hard for boxing prominence and his name is Noah Brusso. Whether or not his real name is Tommy Burns they forgot to state.

SNOW VELOCIPEDE

Can Be Used to Coast or Can Be Ridden Up a Hill.

Most ingenious is the snow velocipede that has been patented by a Pennsylvania man. On it a boy can coast down snow-covered inclines, or he can pedal up them. In its general appearance this vehicle resembles the ordinary velocipede but the front and rear wheels are mounted on runners, instead of on wheels. To be sure, there is a driving wheel, but that is journaled and vertically movable in the front forks. The vertical movement of this wheel is controlled by a lever in the handle. When the velocipede is used to coast down a hill the wheel is raised above the bottom of the runners. On level ground, or going up an incline, the wheel is lowered until it can get a purchase on the ground or snow and pedaled like the wheel of an ordinary velocipede.

RETIRED U. S. ARMY OFFICER INVENTS HYDRO-AEROPLANE AND "ALREADY PLANS OCEAN VOYAGE; MACHINE HAS NOVEL FEATURES"

Captain Matthew A. Batson and his hydro-aeroplane in flight. In upper picture second wing is shown raised, as by any sudden upward current of air; lower picture shows position of rudders to bank machine in turning.

Captain Matthew Batson, a retired U. S. army officer, has invented a hydro-aeroplane, which he says is capable of carrying both passengers and freight. He is now trying out his machine preparatory to a flight to New York, and expects to be the first to cross the ocean in a flying machine.

The accompanying pictures show the machine in full flight. In the upper picture the second wing is shown raised, as by any sudden upward current of air that would otherwise disturb the equilibrium of the machine. After the extra stress passes the wing automatically reverts to its former position. The lower picture shows position of wings to prevent, when necessary, overbanking of machine by rudder.

WAITING ROOM AT GAZETTE OFFICE.

For the convenience of the public the Gazette office can be used as a waiting room for the street cars. Seats are provided and you are welcome to make use of the office as you please.

ILL-ADVISED.

There may be times when strikes are excusable, but they are rarely advisable. The country today, on the edge of winter, is confronted with an ever increasing army of idle men, and whatever may be the grievance, a strike proposition should be carefully considered, and then abandoned.

Labor is its own worst competitor, and when two men are waiting for one man's job, the question of wage scales or no wage is in the balance, and the outcome is never in doubt.

The labor of this country has been so long and universally employed that the tramp fraternity was reduced to a handful, and but for the disposition to regulate everything in sight, there is no reason why these healthy conditions should not have continued indefinitely.

The country has an abundance of money, well distributed. A bumper crop has just been harvested. The business outlook was hopeful, and the men in control simply asked to be let alone but the spirit of regulation finally culminated in a handicap so serious as to demand attention.

The action of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, in laying off from twenty-five to thirty-five per cent of their men, is being duplicated by every road in the country, and there is no political significance attached.

American railroads are simply confronted with a stone wall, which they are unable to scale or break down. W. C. Wheeler, of the legal department of the Chicago and Northwestern road, said, when here, the other day: "They are simply dying of slow starvation." Their bonds can only be floated at a sacrifice. Stocks are in very light demand, and money can not be borrowed to meet the heavy demand for extensions and betterments.

The only alternative is to reduce expenses, as there seems no possible way to increase the income, and so pay rolls are being lightened by reducing the force of employees. The industrial world is attempting to adjust itself to changed conditions caused by the new tariff schedule, and is also more or less disturbed over prospective legislation, outlined by President Wilson. In the meantime the business of the country is compelled to play a waiting game, and all because politics is regarded as of greater importance than prosperity.

Congress in continuous session, is a menace to public welfare.

When the farmer can't get eggs enough to settle the breakfast coffee, the prospect for cheaper prices is not very promising. The boycott now being conducted by the women may effect cold storage prices but it won't have much influence on the hen as a producer. What the country needs is a brand of hens that will lay every day in the year, and be satisfied to let the incubator do the hatching. The life of a hen is too short to devote time to raising a family.

Marionette talks of raising its Christmas strawberries this year and even the rabbits and squirrels are considering setting up housekeeping and getting the children ready for school. Talk about California weather in Wisconsin.

Washington is a lively place this week with suffrage and anti-suffrage conventions being held. President Wilson sick at the White House and congress playing hob with the country generally in their regular session.

Down in Indianapolis the teamsters have gone on a Christmas strike and other trade unions promise to follow suit. A nice way to express the brotherly love this season of the year is supposed to denote.

Rock county farmers are receiving lots of advertising this winter owing to the bumper corn crops of the fifty contestants for the various prizes offered by the Gazette.

Old Santa Claus is making ready for his annual pilgrimage from his polar regions with his sleighloads of presents for his little friends on the earth.

Some farmers are wondering if it would not be a good thing to start their next year's crops if there is to be no more snow or frost than has thus far appeared.

Still President Huerta is holding his own down in the City of Mexico, despite the fact his power is crumbling, as we are told by Washington dispatches.

The days for preparing for Christmas are becoming shorter and shorter and still the Christmas rush has not begun.

McGovern had best look out for those suffragettes who are on his trail. A woman scorned is an enemy to look out for.

Denver is in the throes of a genuine blizzard. It is said to be headed eastward and due to hit Janesville—perhaps.

France is having its own troubles trying to secure a suitable cabinet to follow out the dictates of the people.

On the Spur of the Moment

The Lost Auto.

Lying one day neath the auto, sweating and soaked with oil; I worked at a cranky engine And my only reward was toil.

I know not what I was saying, A I tinkered and wrenched and tore; I doubt not was something quite saye, It may be I even swore.

My patience gave out on that engine, With a hammer I hit it a thump That jarred loose some thingamajinks And started it up at a jump.

Before one could twinkle an eyelid, Before there was time for surprise That car tore away down the highway, And I lay glaring up at the skies.

I sprang up and madly I followed, But soon gave it up in disgust, For that runaway car quickly vanished In a thick snorting cyclone of dust.

I sought it in byways and hedges, In highways and in busy streets; And, though I made thorough inquiries, With never a trace did I meet.

Perhaps in some future existence, In worlds far beyond mortal's ken, I shall once more make search for that auto, But I doubt if I find it then.

Afterthoughts.

The income tax collector should hang around the meat markets and find out who are buying porterhouse steaks.

Great Britain believes that whosoever shall dig a Panama canal shall fall into it.

The real currency question is whether the salary will last until next pay day.

What is easy enough to be pleasant when life goes along gay and jolly, but the guy who's worth while is the one who can smile when wearing a new flannel shirt.

New York woman is granted $3,000, "in spite of the fact that she gives poker parties." But if she gives poker parties, will $3,000 a year be enough?

Josh Billings would be right in his element if he were here now in the midst of the simplified spelling campaign.

France has admitted Jack Johnson to citizenship. France has always been a friend to this country in time of need.

Vests are to be worn by women this winter and, in some families, another well-known male garment.

What's the use a-gettin' blue? When there's nothing a-gettin' you, When your appetite's O. K. And you get three squares a day, And your job is cinched for fair, And your pay is always there, And your family's eatin', too, What's the use a-gettin' blue?

What's the use a-gettin' blue? When the sky's a somber blue? It won't always be that way, Surely will clear off some day, If your neighbor has more cash, And dines on expensive hash, It may be he envies you, What's the use a-gettin' blue?

What's the use a-gettin' blue? Cheer up, it may yet come true— That dream of unfulfilled wealth, To go with your robust health, Just remember all the while, Even if you wear no tile,

The Hen.

The hen, a mighty bird is she; Her eggs are choice as gold; They sell for forty cents a doz. At least so we are told. The best ones in the grocery store Are always labeled "Sold."

Now listen while we tell to thee A tale that's mighty sad. We placed a mortgage on our home And bought one egg, dead. And when we tried to eat the same The old dam thing was "bad."

Mary's Waist.

Mary had a little waist. Most puzzling to her beau, For everywhere the fashion went That waist was sure to go.

Sometimes it was beneath her arms, Sometimes around her knees; Sometimes she was straight up and down, With no waist, if you please.

Way of Prolonging Life.

The statement has been made that life would be prolonged if persons would acquire the habit of stooping by the hips, instead of bending the backbone.

THE TIME.

Suffragist Orator—The time will come when women will get a man's wages.

Victim—(on rear seat) Yes, next Saturday night!

COULDN'T AGREE.

He—So they're not taking a wedding trip?

She—No. You see the places he wanted to go, she had been to on her first wedding trip and he place she wanted to visit he had seen on his. So they're not going anywhere.

Three Sawing Wood: Turnkey William Wogan had three men sawing wood in the jail barn today and another day they will need another load to keep them busy. The county receives fifty cents a cord for every cord sawed and is put to no expense for hauling it in or taking it away.

Department Called: Shortly before ten-thirty this morning, the fire department was called out to answer an alarm sent in from box 47, in the Fourth ward. A five year old youth had meddled with the box until he accidentally turned in the alarm.

Sir Edward Baxter Perry, chevalier melusine, concertist and lecturer, is the house guest of Miss Katherine R. Myers, 7 South East street. Mr. Perry, during his trip abroad, received the highest honors of any American artist. Miss Myers was his pupil when he taught at Oberlin, Ohio.

Low Prices Cause Growth of Store

Janesville Tea Company Now Operating Two Stores.

The Janesville Tea company now has two stores in operation. The old store at 16 South River street not being able to care for the growing business, a branch store has been opened at 11 North bluff street, near the Farmers' Hitching barn, and already the new east side store is doing a large business.

The growth was caused by low cut prices on groceries, teas and coffees. These low prices will continue in effect with both stores. Same stock and separate delivery service is found at both branches.—Advertisement.

CRIME OF THE GORILLA

By C. POEHLMAN.

We were all very fond of Senobia, not only because she was pretty, but because of her gentleness and kind heart.

Politeness and consideration are rare articles in a circus crowd, but Senobia, "the queen of tightrope walkers," as she was billed, had no reason to complain in this respect. Everybody treated her with the greatest politeness and respect, though she was the youngest and poorest paid of us all.

Strange it was, however, the one who showed her least respect was the smartest of the whole company. It was not because he thought himself so far above her, but because he loved her more than any of us did, passionately, and therefore selfishly. The rest of us could feel happy a whole day when Senobia had spoken a few kind words to us, but he, Stavarta, "champion juggler of the world," would not even have been satisfied had she given him her whole soul.

We were in Pittsburgh. The circus was crowded with people, and everybody was anxiously watching for the appearance of Senobia.

When we arrived in town, the director of the circus, greatly to his annoyance, had discovered that it was impossible to fix Senobia's rope properly with the safety curtain underneath.

Then came the fatal night. As usual, I was standing underneath watching her every movement. She was just ready to walk across the rope the third time, carrying a Japanese parasol, when I suddenly discovered that the rope was sagging and that Senobia walked backwards to the place from where she had started.

At this moment the audience shuddered. I looked up, the rope had begun to swing violently. It was not Senobia who did this—she had all she could do to keep her balance. It was caused by something at the other end of the rope, and true enough, there on the other platform sat "Goble," the big gorilla, crouching and shaking the rope with its big powerful fists.

As fast as my legs could carry me I ran to the nearest door leading to the gallery. To get to this I had to pass by the monkey cage, and here I stopped, believing for a moment that I must have gone mad, for in the cage, which was strongly bolted, sat the big gorilla. And still I had seen it only a few seconds before at the other end of the building.

I rushed towards the stairs leading to the gallery and suddenly I heard somebody coming down in mad haste. A suspicion entered my mind. I hid myself quickly and watched. A moment later a figure in red tights ran past my hiding place towards the gorilla's cage. It was Stavarta.

"You miserable beast!" he roared at the ape. "I wish I could kill you!" He ran away from the cage, looked about cautiously and disappeared. A moment later a number of people came running towards the cage, pale and excited.

"What a hero Stavarta is," cried the ringmaster. "But for his courage and presence of mind the mad beast might have attacked the audience."

"Stavarta!" I blurted out. "What did he do?" "He says he was standing in the gallery waiting for his turn when he heard the cries from the audience. At the same moment he saw Senobia falling and caught a glimpse of the gorilla. Without thinking of his own peril he made a rush for the beast, but it was too quick for him. It ran back into its cage and he bolted the door behind it."

"Stavarta is a liar," I said. At the same moment he struck me a violent blow in the face with his fist.

"How dare you call me a liar, you cowardly cur!" he cried. "You have always been jealous because she loved me and did not care for you."

"I, jealous of you? You know very well that Senobia was not in love with any of us, and least of all with you. And you know yourself that you are lying, for at the moment I saw Senobia I ran to the gallery stairs. I had only one thought—to kill the gorilla, but as I passed the cage I saw it sitting in there."

"What is the good of calling one another liars," said the ringmaster.

"It means that Stavarta must explain what he was doing in the gallery and how it happened that we saw a gorilla while Goble was in his cage."

"I will kill you for this!" screamed Stavarta.

"Easy, easy, Stavarta," said the ringmaster, and turned to me.

"Then you saw a gorilla, too? How do you explain that?"

"I believe I can explain. Follow me."

I walked up the stairs. The others and Stavarta followed. He turned paler with every step. At the top there were six little rooms. They were all open but one.

"Where is the key?" I asked.

Nobody knew, but one of the men burst open the door with a kick.

Inside we found a long brown fur coat and a mask representing a gorilla. The fur was torn and the mask in tatters. Both had been torn off in a hurry. Close by were a pair of long-haired gloves and in one of the fingers of these we found a ring belonging to Stavarta.

Senobia did not die. She even recovered so as to be able to walk. She is my wife now.

Stavarta committed suicide in prison.

Brutal!

Damocles saw the suspended sword. "I always take notice when my wife does her hair a new way," he observed.

Heart to Heart Talks

By CHARLES N. LURIE

IMPRESSING A STATESMAN.

From France comes a funny story. A certain town is served by the state railway. Some time ago it was decided that the town needed a new station. A start was made with the usual ceremonies and the work was begun.

But, in the manner of official construction the world over, it lagged and dragged until about six months ago, when work ceased altogether. The station was half finished.

One day not long ago the townspeople were astonished to find the station invaded by a large party of workmen who were creating a tremendous noise. Bustle and activity were everywhere, and the waste material around the unfinished station, the accumulation of months, was cleared up.

Naturally the townspeople asked the reason of this unwelcome din, this sudden activity. The leader of the workmen replied:

"The minister of public works is traveling through here today, and we have been engaged for the day to make as much noise as possible, so he can see how busy we are."

Now, the French minister of public works, occupying a high place in the government, is not an especially simple, foolish or unsophisticated person. But wiser men than he have been fooled before now by the activity and bustle and noise which pass current for real work—sometimes.

It is false, counterfeit coin, of course, but sometimes it has the glitter and weight of the real money of labor.

Beware lest you take it for such, or attempt yourself to pass it on others. You will find on your trail the unerring detectives of your own conscience and your sense of time wasted and lost forever. They are less relenting than the government sleuths.

Some folks try to fool themselves thus.

They stir and bustle about, making what they think is a great splash in the ocean of the world's activities. It is in reality only a very small ripple, but they do not know that.

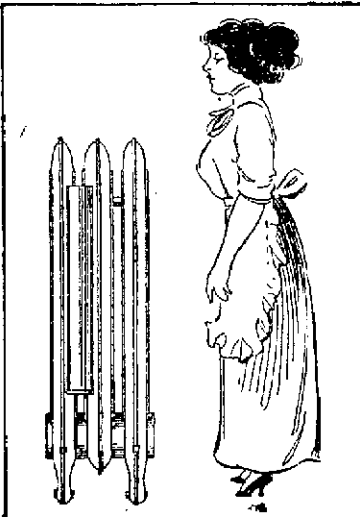

The real worker does not have to make a great deal of noise about what he is doing. Like an efficient machine, he moves silently and smoothly to his destined end.

And the end is generally a worthy one.

MOISTURE FOR HEATED ROOM

A Humidifier Which is Secured to the Steam Radiator.

The most serious criticism of steam heat as applied to domestic use is that it dries out the air so thoroughly that it is not wholesome, and some contend that it is in a great measure responsible for much catarrhal trouble.

ATTACHED TO RADIATOR.

A device to overcome this has been recently patented, consisting of a humidifier to be placed on the radiator, and the heat of the water contained therein being evaporated, imparts its moisture to the room and brings the air to a proper condition for breathing.

A LOVELY FACE— BUT UGLY HAIR

How often you see an otherwise lovely face spoiled by homely hair—a face that would be most charmingly beautiful if she only had prettier hair. What a pity!—and how foolish! Because that ugly hair, stringy, dull, lifeless-looking though it may be, can be made as glossy, soft, silky and beautiful as the heart could desire if only taken proper care of.

Harmony Hair Beautifier is just what it is named—a hair beautifier. It is not a hair dye or hair oil—it is just a dainty, rose-perfumed liquid dressing to give the hair its natural gloss and brightness, its natural wavy softness, its natural rich beauty. Very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. It contains no oil, and will not change the color of the hair nor darken gray hair.

To keep your hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick and thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet-smelling cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you. Sold every way, or your money back. Sold in this community only at our store. The Rexall Store—one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which own the big Harmony laboratories in Boston, where the celebrated Harmony Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made. RAESSLER IS NAMED INSTITUTE SPEAKER

Rock County Man Appointed by University Regents as Lecturer on Pure Bred Grains.

Noyes Raessler, who resides near Beloit, has been appointed by the university regents as special farmers' institute speaker for the coming season which opens next week at Hayward, Sawyer county, and which closes on March 15, next.

Mr. Raessler has won for himself an enviable reputation as a raiser of pure bred grains, being 1912 champion rye grower of the world, and champion corn grower for the northern zone, all of which indicates his undisputed qualification as lecturer on the special topic assigned to him, "Pure Bred Grains and Corn Culture." Mr. Raessler also had charge of the field work of the Gazette corn contest which came to such a successful issue recently. He plans to call attention of farmers throughout the state to the results attained by the Rock county boys as indicative of what can be accomplished, and to arouse interest, if possible, in the matter of inaugurating such contests in other sections of Wisconsin.

Under the new system of institute management the entire series of 110 meetings to be held this winter will be under the direction of the university regents instead of the farmers' institute department. The regents have extensive plans for modernizing the work of the institutes laying stress on recent agricultural developments. Mr. Raessler's line of work will be one of the innovations as the regents heretofore have emphasized livestock raising and dairying and have paid little attention to pure bred seed grains or to corn culture. Mr. Raessler expects to be busy with his lecture work continuously and will visit a majority of the institutes held.

Rock county is scheduled for one institute according to the announcements, footville being the only locality favoring the institution. It has been made for a meeting at Evansville and it is possible that arrangements will be made for a session there.

TOWN BOARDS MEET TO AUDIT ACCOUNTS

Also Fixing Up Budget of Town Expenses for Coming Year for Determining Rate of Taxation.

Throughout Rock county town boards are in session according to law for the purpose of auditing the annual accounts and fixing up the budget of town expense for the coming year, in order that local tax rates may be determined. The farmers are not at all pleased over the increase in the state levy upon Rock county which has been increased from last year's figure of $83,444.94 to $232,083.21. County taxes, with the exception of the levy for highways and a few small items, are the same as last year, the figure being $90,000. There will be raised for highways $46,014.55, more than twice as much as was levied last year. The rate of assessment in the various townships will be the state and county rates plus the rate based on the levy for the expenses of the township administration.

PHILOMATHIAN CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. WALTER HELMS

The Philomathian Club will meet on Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Walter Helms, on Main street. The subject for the afternoon will be "Indian Women." Their basket weaving will be discussed by Mrs. C. H. Weirick. Indian basketry by Mrs. Fred Kobelin, and the pottery of the Indians by Mrs. Walter Helms. After the reading refreshments will be served. This club of twenty members is furnishing a room at Mercy hospital, and their task is about completed.

The Gazette Travel Bureau is a Much Used Institution

Peculiar requests come to the GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU for information regarding travel detail as to routes, transportation lines, etc.

A day or two ago a gentleman came in from the southern part of the county and said he wanted to go to Brazil, S. A. He had no particular point in mind, just so he could get down to the Eastern coast of Brazil, and after going over the various railroad catalogues and books of information here he found that he would prefer to go to Argentina, so that he has been supplied with complete information as to how to get to that point, either from New York or New Orleans. The gentleman in question expects to cross the Argentine Republic by railroad to the western coast & investigate conditions in those far off countries. The next day after our foreign traveler called, a gentleman came in to find out the best way to get to Houston, Texas, whether to go by Kansas City or St. Louis.

Another man wanted information as to travel to the state of Washington, and other man desired information about Southern Florida. This BUREAU is able to supply this information and to place in the hands of the inquirer not only material about the best way to go, but complete detail about rates, etc., free of cost.

CITY TAX ROLL NEARLY READY FOR TREASURER

City, State and County Taxes, Apportioned to Property Owners According to Their Assessment.

The city tax roll is nearly completed by City Clerk Hammarlund and the apportionment of city, state and county taxes to the various property owners according to their assessment, has been made for all the wards. The apportionment of the various special assessments for street improvements, curb and gutter, drains, sewers, and the like, where the same have not been paid, still remains to be done, but will be accomplished within the next few days. The tax rolls will be in the hands of the city treasurer for collection several days before the 15th of the month, the earliest date for receiving the funds.

Not a few persons have made inquiries at the offices of the city clerk and city assessor as to the probable amount of their taxes. Needless to say, there are few persons who will be favored with a decrease in comparison with their payments of last year.

TOBACCO PURCHASES TO BE MADE EARLY

Warehouse Handling Season Promises Early Opening Date Over Past Years—Wisconsin Market.

The extremely good casing weather which has been extending over the state and country during the past month, almost warrants an early start in warehouse handling for the coming winter. The tobacco crop will be disposed of as soon as possible, to bring the largest returns. The Wisconsin market is as follows:

A week of almost continuous fog rains and soft weather turning the country roads into a sea of mud, has served to pretty effectually suspend the buying movement as well as to cause considerable anxiety upon the part of the tobacco grower. The warm unseasonable temperature has caused a good deal of heating in the bulks of unstripped tobacco, as well as in the bundles and even mold has commenced to show on the soft stems. It is feared that damage might occur should this weather continue much longer. A little of the new crop has been received during the week, about 100 acres being taken in at Deerfield Wednesday by the P. Lorillard Co. We understand the tobacco is not coming in in the best of condition, as there is considerable high case tobacco and delivering is likely to be attended with some trouble. The grower who has not taken down his tobacco from the curing sheds appears to be in the best position so far.

Trading in cured leaf is largely confined to the eastern centers, where the samples are now being shown. We learn C. B. Simonson & Co., Deerfield packers, have sold 500s of '12. Packing operations have been started in a limited way in Vernon county this week, but not much will be doing in this market until after the holidays.

The shipments out of storage reach about 600cs to all points from this market since last report.

FIND EGG BOYCOTT IS TAKING EFFECT

Fewer Eggs Consumed for Breakfast in Kansas City Reports Head of Housewives' League.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 5.—A marked decrease in the consumption of eggs was shown at Kansas City breakfast tables this morning, according to reports reaching headquarters of the local housewives' league. It will be several days before the egg boycott can reach full strength, according to Mrs. W. Q. Church, president of the league.

Committees appointed at the mass meeting turned all attention to efforts to bring about legislation requiring cold storage warehouses to publish in the newspapers monthly reports showing the quantity of eggs in storage.

Mrs. Church declared the housewives' league would ask permission of the board of education to carry its propaganda into the schools.

Children may be enlisted in the boycott.

THE FALL OF JERICHO. (The Story)

Jericho was the Gibraltar of Canaan, its towering bastions and gates of iron, with bars of brass, bade defiance to the invader. Even if its garrison could be run, no commander versed in tactics would leave such a citadel in his rear. It was a matter of no trifling importance to the matter to his most reliable lieutenant. He went in person to reconnoiter and plan the attack. While his eye was searching for some way of approach, he was suddenly aware of a stranger's presence. Before him was a towering form of majestic mien, a naked sword gleaming in his hand. Every man's hand clapped his own, and he called for the counterfeiter. In an instant he apprehended the truth—he had met an officer who outranked him. In a moment, with bare feet and prostrate form, he worshiped the commander-in-chief of all Jehovah's hosts, celestial and terrestrial.

A plan of assault, novel and human, speaking, extremely foolish, was revealed to Joshua. The scheme was mortifying to a military genius. In this crucial test, Joshua's faith shines resplendent. He lays his military science at the feet of Jehovah's captain. Having made the Lord's plan, he plans to return to camp and put it into execution.

Next day, under Jericho's walls, the strange maneuver known to history was made. Israel's palladium, glittering in the sun, carried by priestly hands, as upon other occasions of special sanctity, was in the van. Seven priests, with ram's horn-shaped silver trumpets, blew a defiant crescendo. Six hundred soldiers, in troops marched, not upon, but around the city. From the gallery of a theatre, the whole population of the beleaguered city viewed this strange spectacle for a week. On the seventh day, on the completion of the seventh circuit, the seven priests blew an extra loud and prolonged blast upon the seven horns; and at this signal, from six hundred thousand brazen throats, there went up a shout as if victory had already been achieved.

That instant the faith of Israel had its reward. Those walls melted as the hearts of their defenders had already. Thus ended the key to Canaan, in the hands of faithful Joshua that day. In the midst of universal ruin a fragment of the wall stood intact. On its summit like an evry, was a but, from whose little window a crimson-dyed cord swung back and forth. It was the house of Rahab. Then that city, the opulent commercial outpost of Canaan, the cup of her iniquity being full, fell a prey to the sword of justice, as foretold by Israel, Jehovah's executioner.

But those are joyous providences as well as grievous ones, and they are refining and purifying too. It was the great draught of fishes which Peter did not expect, that caused him to cry out: "Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, Oh, Lord" (Luke 5:8). What do you know of this experience?

3. He refines us by his word. We recall the testimony of the psalmist, "Thy word have I hid in my heart, that I might not sin against Thee," (Psalm 119:11). The intercessory prayer of Christ for his disciples, "Sanctify them through thy truth, thy word is truth," (John 17:17). The teaching of Paul to the Romans, where he says (8:17, 18): "God be thanked, that ye were the servants of sin, but ye have obeyed from the heart that form of doctrine which was delivered you. Being then made free from sin, ye became the servants of righteousness." Where could we find a clearer statement of the refining power of the word of God? First, by nature, we were servants of sin. Then, we heard the word of God, "the form of doctrine," as Paul calls it, the message of the gospel. This we obeyed, we believed in him of whom it spake, and we began to inquire about his will and to seek to do it. Immediately thereupon, and in so far, we became free from sin. No longer did it continue to hold the old power over us, but instead we became "servants of righteousness." Like our holy exemplar, we could say, "I delight to do thy will, Oh, God!"

4. He refines us by his spirit. The holy spirit is a divine person, the same as the father and the son, and he dwells within every true believer in Jesus Christ. "If any man have not the spirit of Christ, he is none of his" (Romans 8:9). His office work in the believer is to sanctify him, to lead and guide him into all truth, and to take the things of Christ and show them unto him (John 16:13, 14). Of course, this means that he uses the Bible, the word of God, and hence the necessity that in all our reading and study of that word, we be continually in prayer for the spirit's aid. But, oh, what wonders he works in such a case! "Be not deceived," says Paul to the Christians at Corinth, "neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor abusers of themselves with mankind, nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revellers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God. And such were some of you; but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the spirit of our God" (1 Cor. 6:9-11). What a testimony, and yet how often has it been repeated in the history of the saints from that day until this! Verily, God is a refiner and a purifier. Let us trust him. Let us obey his word. Let us follow the example of Jesus Christ, and "walk even as he walked." Let us yield ourselves to his spirit, that he may be glorified in us. Let the year that is just ahead of us, if we live, and if the Lord tarries, be one in which

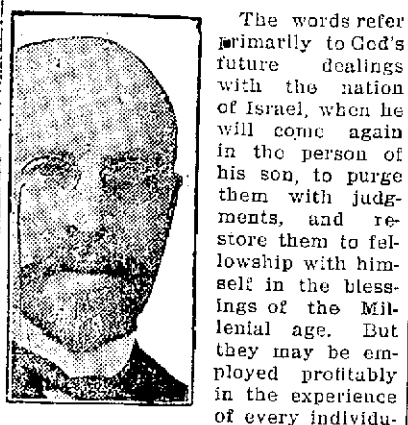

"Our gold shall shine out with a richer glow, As it mirrors a form above, Who bends over the unused by us, With a look of ineffable love."

The Young People's Devotional Service. December 7, 1913. Psalm 116:1-6. The Ideal Christian (XII) His Reward. (Continued from page 8.) The true Christian is no legitimate object of pity. His sacrifices and losses are in appearance only. He gives up what would harm him to receive what will bless him. There is a perennial freshness and fruitfulness in his life. The fact is, he is rooted in the very River of Life. His leaf can not wither, and he always has the capacity for a prodigious harvest of moral deeds which can bless others.

How Good Refines Us

By REV. JAMES M. GRAY, D. D.
Dean of Moody Bible Institute
Chicago

TEXT—We shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver.—Malachi 3:2.

The words refer primarily to God's future dealings with the nation of Israel, when he will come again in the person of his son, to purge them with judgments, and restore them to fellowship with himself in the blessings of the Millennial age. But they may be employed profitably in the experience of every individual Christian believer in the present time.

God is refining and purifying every one of us who is truly his through faith in his dear son; and the close of the old year and the opening of a new one, is a good time to consider some of the ways in which he does it.

1. He refines us by the example of that son. He sets him before us in his word as one who was always well-pleasing in his sight. Obedient to his earthly parents, faithful as a workman at his bench, content in poverty and obscurity, meek and lowly in heart, kind and tender to his fellow-men, reviled, but reviling not again, trusting, hopeful, loving, holy always and without sin—as we gaze upon him in his inspired portraiture in the gospels, how we long to be like him, if we possess his spirit at all, what a refining and purifying power there is in the story of his life!

2. He refines us by his providences. How wisely, how patiently, and how lovingly God deals with us every one, and how universally it is true as David said, that his "gentleness" makes us great (2 Samuel 22:36). "Whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth" (Heb. 12:6), but think what this chastening has meant to all who have served him—Jacob, Moses, David, Daniel, Paul! But those are joyous providences as well as grievous ones, and they are refining and purifying too. It was the great draught of fishes which Peter did not expect, that caused him to cry out: "Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, Oh, Lord" (Luke 5:8). What do you know of this experience?

3. He refines us by his word. We recall the testimony of the psalmist, "Thy word have I hid in my heart, that I might not sin against Thee," (Psalm 119:11). The intercessory prayer of Christ for his disciples, "Sanctify them through thy truth, thy word is truth," (John 17:17). Being then made free from sin, ye became the servants of righteousness." Where could we find a clearer statement of the refining power of the word of God? First, by nature, we were servants of sin. Then, we heard the word of God, "the form of doctrine," as Paul calls it, the message of the gospel. This we obeyed, we believed in him of whom it spake, and we began to inquire about his will and to seek to do it. Immediately thereupon, and in so far, we became free from sin. No longer did it continue to hold the old power over us, but instead we became "servants of righteousness." Like our holy exemplar, we could say, "I delight to do thy will, Oh, God!"

ABE MARTIN

It seems like the greater a feller is the worse his politics. We'd all like to vote for the best man, but he's never mixed up in politics.

Toward the Right.
I find the great thing in this world is, not so much where we stand, as in what direction we are moving. To reach the port of heaven we must sail sometimes with the wind and sometimes against it—but we must sail and not drift nor lie at anchor.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

There's one Young Woman in Janesville

—right here in Janesville there's an ambitious young woman who has a wide acquaintance among the business men of her city, which is worth good money to her once she knows how to cash in on it. Grady can show her how. Grady is the president of two prosperous corporations in the stenographers' and office-supply line. The name of Grady is known all over the typewriter world. Grady has probably helped more ambitious stenographers and working girls to independence than any other business man alive—they all swear by Grady.

Perhaps this Janesville girl is working in a bank, store or office. Or perhaps she's not working at all, and knows little or nothing about business. Makes no difference to Grady. But she IS a hustler! She IS ambitious—ambitions to make more money and get ahead, without interfering with her present duties. And she HAS two or three hundred dollars—or knows where she can get it for use in the right sort of business opening—an opening that means independence and a sure growing income—a business built up under her own name!

Or perhaps "she" is a young man—perhaps it's some hustling young man that's the logical one for this opportunity. Two reasons why Grady thought of a young woman first are because Grady's too much of an American to ever forget "women first"—and because Grady knows that business men and buyers usually like to do everything they can to help along the girl who's ambitious to get ahead.

Anyhow, woman or man, Janesville offers a wonderful opportunity to one of its ambitious young people, and Grady wants to get in touch with that one at once. Grady is one of the most successful advertisers in Chicago, and WILL SHOW YOU HOW to build up a splendid business by advertising in your home newspaper. Grady will do all your advertising for you himself, in your own name, and pay for it himself, knowing that what has happened in other cities will come true here, too. The same brains, long experience, and thorough knowledge of the business that have made prosperous business-owners of so many young women and men in other cities will do as much for you.

Besides advertising you in your home newspapers, Grady writes on his own letterhead to such fellow-townsmen of yours as might use Grady's supplies, calling their attention to the fact that you are Grady's sole representative, that you're square and honest and ambitious, and that Grady's companies back up every dollar's worth of goods you sell, and guarantee all supplies to the limit of the English language.

For your own ambition's sake, listen to what Grady tells you today. Grady is talking to YOU. Write Grady personally today—make him prove that YOU, without training and without business experience, can make a lot of money by following his simple directions.

Don't accept anything without proof—just get Grady's whole proposition, then decide.

Write Grady right NOW. It costs you but the price of a 2-cent stamp, and it would be the mistake of your life to let any other Janesvillite get ahead of you on a thing like this. Just address

Grady

CIVIL ENGINEERS

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Slawh."

A CIVIL engineer is a quiet man with a thick coat of sunburn, who spends his time revising climates, editing the landscape and training up rivers into lives of usefulness. In order to do this the civil engineer does not tear the earth wide open with a hundred-ton spade or perform other feats of strength. He is usually of ordinary size and if he only used his own hands he could not unsh around a small creek, let alone a river. The civil engineer does not rely on muscles. When he desires to move a mountain or wipe out a few hundred squares miles of desert with a dam he takes his logarithm book and retires to a quiet spot where he fills an acre of brown paper full of figures. At the end of six months he emerges with a tired air and a cartload of blue prints and motions to the steamshovels to come up and get busy.

The civil engineer is not generally known. This is because he cannot often be found on the street corners or in the clubs or in the act of operating grand opera with a vast white shirt front. He usually lives in the wilderness in his boots and a last week's shave. After the ordinary man has lived in a wilderness for a few years his mother wouldn't know him. But after an engineer has lived in a wilderness the same length of time his mother wouldn't know it. The engineer is continually editing and revising nature, rearranging mountains and making rivers back up and go the other way. He is as restless and unsatisfied with the way things look as the woman who always rearranges the parlor furniture while her husband is away so that he may fall over it when he comes home in the dark and receives a pleasant surprise.

The civil engineer has hung railroad on mountain sides, run tunnels under city streets, made oceans shake hands, harnessed up Niagara Falls, made backs out of the western deserts and has put a reverse gear in the Chicago river. Some day he will begin experimenting with the earth's orbit and we may yet have Christmas at the Fourth of July, and a weekly corned beef and square jaw working harmoniously can do almost anything.

Best He Had Tasted.
Mark Twain was playing golf on a well known English course. In trying to make a very long brassie shot, Twain tore up considerable turf and a chunk of dirt hit him squarely in the face. The Englishman he was playing with, seeking to relieve the embarrassment of his guest, remarked: "By the way, Mr. Twain, how do you like our course?" "Fine," said Twain. "I think it is the best I have ever tasted."—From "Golf Yarns," by H. B. Martin.

Kiernan & Co., being partial payment for the construction of the bridge over Spring Brook on South Main Street, said payment being in accordance with the report of the Board of Public Works dated Dec. 2, 1913.

On Motion Council adjourned until Friday, December 5, 1913.

J. P. HAMMARLUND, City Clerk.

Relief From Constipation

It's Me For Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. There cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action. If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime. Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Co., Columbus, O. All druggists.

Many Recoveries From Lung Trouble

A medicine for Throat and Lung Troubles which has been thoroughly tested for many years, and which has been instrumental in restoring complete health to a large number of sufferers, should be thoroughly investigated by everyone. While no undue claims are made for it, no any guarantee that its use will restore health. Eckman's Alternative has been given the full credit in saving lives in many cases. Read this case:—

(Gentlemen: In January, 1908, I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs, was laid up for several weeks. Mr. C. A. Lippincott, of 1410 North 3rd Street, Wilmington, Del., recommended to me Eckman's Alternative, that had done great good, and upon his suggestion I began taking it at once. Pills were about June, 1908. I continued faithfully, using no other remedy, and finally noticed the clearing of the lungs. I now have no trouble with my lungs. I firmly believe Eckman's Alternative saved my life.)

(Above abbreviated; more on request.) Eckman's Alternative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stomach and Liver troubles, and all systems. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling full details in writing to Eckman's Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for free. Mother! Don't hesitate! If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look at the tongue, mother. If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When nervous, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without crying, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax children to take this harmless "fruit laxative," they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see the bottle made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Kind That Glows.

It is worth recalling just now that there is etiquette to be observed even in being warm. In a cold volume for the instruction of youth a young lady declares herself to be "all of a quiver with cold," and is at once severely rebuked by her governess with "Hush, hush! Horses sweat, men perspire, but ladies only glow."

TEST STUDENTS FROM ORAL ENGLISH CLASS

ENTIRE ENROLLMENT IN PROF. J. T. SHEAFOR'S PUBLIC SPEAKING CLASS TO GIVE SHORT TALKS BEFORE SCHOOL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST

New Course Introduced in Local School Is the Second of Its Kind in the State—School to Pick Winners.

Within the next three weeks, until the Christmas vacation, the morning exercise period at the local high school will be used by Prof. J. T. Shaefor's class in oral English, or in more technical terms, practical public speaking. The purpose of the course is to train the students to speak before the public with control and force, as any other public speaker would. The first term having closed last week, Prof. Shaefor is now taking the second term, which is compulsory, and he believes this is the only method in which his knowledge can be brought about.

When one of the students talks before the entire school, he will address an audience of 150, and will surely prove worth while to the speaker, as well as serve the students of the school with live topics of current news connected with popular events which are of interest to the entire universe at the present time.

The course in public speaking was only experimental in the local high school this fall, and after a few weeks of trial Prof. Shaefor will become enthusiastic and arranged to have it a permanent course. It is open only to senior boys, and in that way every boy who graduates, or who reaches the fourth year of study, is eligible to take up the work.

Prof. Shaefor, who instructs the class, is the organizer of the course in the state of Wisconsin. He opened the first class last year at the Grand Rapids high school, where he was instructor. Coming to the local institution this fall, with the success of his first year's work in mind, he determined to further the scope of the work, and to organize a class of twenty-two boys. Supt. C. W. Schwede of the Grand Rapids schools is now handling the course started by Prof. Shaefor, and finds it even more beneficial than the one at first anticipated.

Present Prof. Shaefor and Prof. R. L. Lyman of the University of Chicago have a text book in manuscript form, intending to publish it shortly. This manuscript form is being used at present in the Grand Rapids and local high schools.

The class meets once each day, and regular assignments are given at each recitation for the next day. Those members of the class who secured positions on the debating teams easily excelled in oratory and delivery. The morning talks, to be given this month, will not be orations, but merely short addresses, varying from five to ten minutes in length.

From one to three speakers will talk at these morning periods. At the close of the twenty-two talks, the individual members of the school will ballot for their first, second and third choice. Also, the members of the faculty will cast their ballot likewise, in a separate box, and the decisions will be rendered immediately after being counted.

The public are invited to attend these talks, and subjects have carefully been selected.

The order in which the speakers will talk, together with the name of each member of the class, and his subject to deliver, follows:

"The Moving Picture Business," Walter Craig.

"Smuggling and Smugglers," Garret McGowan.

"The Future of Electricity," Herbert Brownell.

"How the Custom Duties Are Collected," Carl Schooff.

"Our National Forests," Willard Hield.

"The Mississippi Levees," Louis Roherty.

"Game and Game Laws," Gerald Cunningham.

"The New Commitment Law," Victor Hemming.

"U. S. Life Saving Station," James Roherty.

"Mexican Situation," Raymond Dames.

"Alaska's Great Problem," Freeman Rummage.

"Will the Panama Canal Pay?" Louis Hayes.

Both talks were stirring, and the competition is going to be close all through.

Session of Court

Was Opened Today

Trial of Kraft vs. Lidke Began Before Judge Grimm This Afternoon—Judge Here Tomorrow.

Because the parties interested in the suit of Kraft versus Lidke were unable to appear at that time, the trial was for nine o'clock this morning was not taken up until two o'clock this afternoon. Judge Grimm, however, reached the city this morning.

Prize of $100,000, also set for today, will probably not be reached until later. The next case on the calendar is that of the Lima drainage district, set for December 8. Judge Grimm expects to announce his decision in the case of the Janesville Motor Company versus Great U. Fish or within the next few days.

GRADE SCHOOL ELEVENTH BATTLE TO THE GAME

The fourth and fifth grade youngsters of the Jefferson school battled to a six to six tie yesterday afternoon in their second gridiron battle.

Both teams battled hard for the victory, but the contesting lines held the backfield from making consistent gains. The lineups were as follows:

Fourth grade—Detmer, r. g. Ellor, a. b. Kuzma, r. b. McElmott, f. b. Sprackling, l. b. Hapbacker, l. t. J. Smith, r. t. Great, l. g. Shere, c. Fether, l. g. and Earl, r. g.

Fifth grade—Changer, c. Amerholt, a. b. Kimball, f. b. Jaman, r. b. Hoague, l. b. Dobson, r. t. Kerst, l. t. Farnsworth, l. g. Nowlan, r. g. Clarida, l. g. Ridley, r. g.

COMEDY CHARACTERS IN MUSICAL FROLIC

"Mutt and Jeff in Panama" Pleases Audience at Myers Theatre Last Evening.

The presentation of Gus Hill's comedy farce of "Mutt and Jeff" at the Myers opera house last night proved a most provoking frolic and while the performance was a hopeless mixture between a musical comedy and a mild burlesque, it certainly pleased the packed house present. This year's presentation is at least fifty per cent better than the performance that exhibited in Janesville last season.

While the success of the play hinges on the ludicrous acting of Mutt and Jeff, two characters made famous by Cartoonist Bud Fisher, there is an interesting plot running through the three acts that holds the audience until the final curtain. The clowns of the company was not large in number but exceptionally good. The singing of the cast was past criticism and the various scenes proved original and created much deserved praise among the audience.

From their unceremonious entrance Mutt and Jeff proved a huge joke and kept the audience in a continual roar with their antics and over dramatizations in securing a livelihood while in Panama, where two acts are staged. The hit of the playing was played by the dancing of Miss Hazel Fruth under the name of Miss Crane. Miss Zadori Zay, around whom the mystery of the disappearing government papers is centered played a small part and proved a most talented singer.

Excellent songs featured the acts, the best being "If I Had a Girl Like You," "Angelina," "Moonbeams," and "Isle of Man." For a performance of its kind, "Mutt and Jeff" proved the best that has been seen at Janesville for some time.

NORTH JOHNSTOWN

North Johnstown, Dec. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. Michael Fanning entertained a party of young people at their home last Saturday evening in honor of the fifteenth birthday of their granddaughter, Marquette Fanning, of Janesville, who was spending her Thanksgiving there.

Miss Mamie Pierce of Whitewater spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Pierce.

Marlin Conlin is confined to his home with blood poison in his foot.

John Vaughn of Avalon made a business trip here Thursday.

Hugh Pauling and M. J. Joyce delivered cattle at Avalon Monday.

RUSH BEGINS EARLY AT THE POSTOFFICE

"Do Your Shopping Early" Warning Is Being Heeded, According to Postmaster.

Seventeen more days remain in which to do your Christmas shopping and to mail your Christmas presents. The postoffice officials state that the early mail this year has been larger than in any previous year and expect to have little trouble in handling the holiday rush because of the foresight of the citizens. According to postmaster C. L. Valentine the local office has broken all records in the amount of foreign money orders that have been sent to the old country at such a time before the twenty-fifth of December.

Janesville people are obtaining metropolitan experience in the course of the busy shopping days in the crowded stores by crossing the Milwaukee street bridge during a rush hour. The merchants unite in their effort to urge the shoppers to purchase their gifts at an early date, saving the shop girls from despair.

Postmaster Valentine has posted placards in various parts of the postoffice building to warn the people to securely wrap their packages and to mail them early.

Warning is given that all the red cross stamps should be placed on the back of the envelope and especially those sent to the foreign countries and all letters that have these stamps on the front will be sent to the dead letter office. The countries, Austria, Norway, and Portugal, refuse to accept mail that has been labeled with these stamps and the sender who places them on the packages to their effort to urge the shoppers to purchase their gifts at an early date, saving the shop girls from despair.
